

ABSTRACT

Method and apparatus for carrying out highly exothermic catalyzed reactions, like so-called oxidative reactions, in pseudo-isothermal conditions, for example the reaction for 5 producing nitric acid and the reaction for producing formaldehyde.